We publish the resolutions of the meeting for the purpose of exhibiting to the conservative masses the true spirit animating the eastern radicals, and with what extreme and indecent personal defams tion and detraction they assail President Johnson. The phraseology of the resolutions display the same familiarity with vulgar expressions, and bitter, vindictive hatred characteristic of the speeche the most envenomed, and blood thirsty that has yet come from the party. The der fury with which the radical party assail every prominent man that has had the honesty and courage to repudiate its designs and denounce its revolutionary tendencies, can only injure the party itself. It matters not how often these revolutionists resolve that "Andrew Johnson is the made President by J. Wilkes Booth." The conservative, patriotic people of this country will condemn the party that utters the infamous insinuation as emphatically as they condemned the assassination of Lincoin himself. A correspondent of the St. Louis Republican writes from Brazii the following interesting facts concerning the growth of the banana in that country:

The most wonderful production of this and all tropical countries, in my estimation, is the banana and its synonym, the plantain. We have half a dozen varieties—each with peculiar flavor and qualities. Some grow only eight or ten feet high—others twenty. The stalks are from six to twelve inches thick, but almost as soft and succulent as celery. Each of them bears one bunch of bananas, and one only, when it is cut down with a stroke of the espado to secure the fruit and give place to other stalks. And thus they grow and ripen perpetually all the year round. A great traveler has calculated that the plantain, on one acre of ground, will produce as much food as one hundred and thirty-three acres of wheat or forty-four acres of potatoes. The fruit constitutes the principal reliance of the poor, and is a luxury for all. It is good raw, roasted, baked, and indeed in every form, and equality relished by all domestic fowls and animals that devour fruit, leaves, stalks and all, with the greatest avidity. Republican Orator Brought to Grief.

The Journal of yesterday contains an ac-count of a meeting, in Harrison county, at which Major Journs, Republican candidate for the Legislature is said to have "extinguished" ent by reading a letter which he had n to a soldier in the army advising him. to desert. The "Infamous letter," as the Journal properly calls it, is a base forgery gotten up to sustain the "lost cause" and sinking fortunes of the Republican party, as sinking fortunes of the Republican party, as will appear from the affidavit of the soldier who is said to have written it, and which we publish below. The prospects of a party must indeed be desperate when it is compelled to resort to forging "infamous letters" to sustain it. But the Journal is mistaken in say-ing that it was Major Journal opponent that was "extinguished" by him. It was the Democratic candidate for Sheriff. Here is the adidavit:

Aldavit:

Harrison County, on this Joth day of August, 1890, personally appeared Jeremish Shuck, who being by me duly sworn, on his oath says that it having been falsely reported that while in the army I reserved a letter or letters from Henry Zenor, the present Demoratic candidate for Sherili of Larrison county, in which he advised me to desert from the army, etc., I feel it my duty to say that, never did reserved any letter from Henry Zenor while in the army, or any subject whatever, consequently and report is wholly false; I further state that I never saw or heard of any such letter until recently after such false report was started. I would further state that the the the same is a solidier and helped my country out of her distress the radicals must not suppose that I am willing to help them out with their slanders and false statements. At this meeting Willlam Walliags, then County Clerk, was salled out and said:

"On day before vesterday Mr. Benjamin Harrison and himself had been appealed to by the Governor to give their services to their country, and he intended to volunteer for the war. He would go with a "inspeace on his beet and a puship in hie hand?"

A man who acts the petty tyrint in the family circle, is a nulsance and can cause a great amount of pain, heart burning, and unhappiness in a limited sphere. An individcan, on a more extended scale, bring trouble, can, on a more extended scale, bring trouble, war and discontent upon all over whom he has control; but of all the elements of an absolutely fearful tyranny, that is for the time being unreasonable and uncontrolable, the tyranny of a majority over the minority in a republican government, is sometimes and under some circumstances, the most unmanageable. The conflict of chinions, of doctrines, and that arising out of the choice of rulers, often chafes and irritates the public mind. This would all be right, as having a tendency This would all be right, as having a tenden to arouse inquiry and prompt to close investigation, if each would be governed by a desire the interest of only a part, at the ex to promote the best interest of the whole people in the republic. But, whenever selfish ness and sectionalism-a desire to promo all others, forms the ruling motive; and those fostering that spirit of selfishness obtain the ascendency, then woe be to the minority. Unjust laws, oppressive measures—in a word, the tron heel of despotsm will be set upon their necks. The despot will then be the ma-jority. From the time that they convoked their assemblages, opened them with prayer and closed with sones of thanksriving, and resolved with songs of thanksgiving, and resolved that as the followers of the meek and lowly Jesus, they could not permit the heresies of the Baptists and Quakers to remain in their midst, and thereupon proceeded to whip, tor-ment, sit in the stocks and persecute Quakers and Baptists for their religious opinions. •

We say from the time these things happened in New England, because these Puri-tans were the majority, until this day, they have always, as far as they dare do so, exhib-ted the same meddlesome, ferocious, selfish, dev-elish, cowardly spirit in their intercourse with the rest of mankind. Their selfishness has been manifested in interests to the great detriment of all others.

The East is a magnifecturing community. The South agricultural. These siws benefited the Eastern people at the expense of the Southern people, and thus produced much actimonatous feeling, which it took but a spark to set in a glow.

The foreity, and devilish, selfish malice of their benefit and to crush the very people that they fuse some of these hereafter, at present we will only say that a part of the set passed last winter, to which we have referred, levice a tax of three cents per pound on cotton raised in the South as expensed. This is near half as much as cotton was worth per pound before the South and exported. This is near half as much as cotton was worth per pound before the South, by law, we are crushing the West also.

Under these suspices the game opened last Monday week with the encounter of all the odds; against, which it stood forearmed. Throughout this week the operations of the "bank" were almost unceasing, and consummated under the pressure of an unparalleled attendance of custom. Its accommodations are smple, but they could not have been more thoroughly tested than during this six days "run." The hall that I have previously mentioned has a broad stairway occupying hall its width about ten paces from the door, and leads directly into the supper room, a fine, lofty apartment extending crossways the hall, into which the latter opens near the center. On the right and left of the hall are each two I large drawing rooms thrown into one beautifully carpeted, and filled with luxurious chalrs of every description. At either end of the rooms is a large more referred are there.

This is Morrissey's at mid day. Unless it happened to be amid the resping of last week's harvest, an impection of the internal order of things, at this hour, could searcely offend. The rooms are almost deserted, except by the black stendants, who offer a fan and the morning papers, or press your adjournment to the breakfast room. The fow men that appear in the appartments are nearly all of them attaches of the "Bank," and are as elegant and courteous in their greetings, as the domestice are civil and attentive. There is no play going on, and strange to say, no reference to that which has transpired the night previous, although the game was then by with the fate of thousands. The Dead Ship of Harpswell. BY JOHN G. WHITTIER.

hat flecks the outer grey beyond
The stundown's golden trail?
The white flash of a sea birds wing,
for gleam of slanting sail?
et young eyes watch from Neck and Point,
And sea worn elders pray—
as ghost of what was once a ship is sailing up the bay! From gray sea fog, from ley drift, From peril and from pain, The home bound fisher greets thy lights, O hundred harbored Maine!

or numered narmored Maine : ut many a keel shall seaward turn, And many a saifoutstand, hen, tall and white, the Dead Ship looms Against the dusk of land. She rounds the headland's bristling pines. She threads the isle-set day:
No spur of breeze can speed her on,
Nor elb of tide delay.
Old men still walk the isle of Orr
Who tell her date and name.
Old shipwrights sit in Freeport yards
Who hewed her oaken frame.

What weary doom of baffled quest.
Thou sad see ghost, is thine?
What makes thee in the haunts of home A wonder and a sign?
No foot is on thy silent deck,
Upon thy helm no hand;
No ripple hath the soundless wind
That smites thee from the land.

For never comes the ship to port Howe'er the breeze may be; Just when she nears the waiting shor She drifts again to sea. No tack of sail, no turn of helm. Nor sheer'of veering side. Step fore she drives to sea and night Against the wind and tide. In vain o'er Harpswell Neck the star Of evening guides her in; In vain for her the lamps are lit Within thy tower, Sequin: In vain the harbor boat shall hail, In vain the pilot call; No hand shall reef her spectral saif. Or let her anchor fail.

Shake, brown old wives, with dreary joy Shake, frown on wives, with treaty for your gray head hints of ill; no wore sick beds whispering low, Your prophecies fulfill; some home amid your birchen trees still drape its door with woe: And slowly where the Dead Ship sails. The burlat bout shall row!

From Wolf Neck and from Flying Point,
From island and from main,
From sheltered cove and titled creek,
Shall glide the funeral train,
The deal boats with the bearers four,
The mourners at her stern,
And one slad go the stient way
Who shall no more return; And men shall sigh, and women weep, Whose dear one's pale and pine, Await the ghostly sign.
They know not that its sails are filled
But pity's tender breath,
Corsec the Angels at the helm
Who steers the Ship of Death!

It is an admitted fact that the Mexican Mustan
Liniment performs more cures in a shorter time ou man and beast, than any article ever discov ered: Families, livery men, and planters should always have it on hand. Quick and sure it certainly is. All genuine is wrapped in steel plate engravings, bearing the signature of G. W. West-brook, Chemist, and the private United States Stamp of DEMAS BARNES & CO., over the top. An effort has been made to counterfeit it wit Saratoga Spring Water, sold by all Druggists.

It is a most delightful Hair Dressing It eradicates scurf and dandruff.
It keeps the head cool and clean.
It makes the hair rich, soft, and glo It prevents hair tarning gray and falling of It restores hair on prematurely bald heads.

This is just what Lyon's Catharion will do. It is pretty-it is cheap-durable. It is liter sold by the car load, and yet its almost incred demand is daily increasing, until there is hardly a country store that does not keep it, or a family that does not use it. E. THOMAS LYON, Chemist, New York.

HOW TO CURE THE WILDERNESS BLOSSOMS LIKE THE ROSE

Ms. DELIGHT—Dear Sir: I have just examined the articles of which your Spanish Lustral is composed, and I believe they are among the best hair restoratives known. I am satisfied from actual observation, that if faithfully applied, your Lustral will promote the growth and give beauty and lustre to the hair. From the Rev, Dr. Tiffany, (Grace M. R.

Ms. DELIGHT: I have used, with great satisfaction and benefit Delight's Spanish Lustral, for two years past, and have found it a valuable preparation to prevent the failing out of the hair, as well as a most refreshing article for the toilet; its application has, moreover, frequently relieved severe headache. Mrs. Tifany joins with me in recommending the Lustral as in all respects the best dressing for haplant she greguesed.
